It's almost the mixture as before, this week-end, with most of the Chinese New Year attractions still in full swing. They're a varied lot, and if one didn't know that It's what goes into the cash box that is the main interest of all theatre managers (making it impractical to run a comedy if the house across the road is showing a better one) it might be imagined that a thoughtful entertainment committee had ensured that each of the first run cinemas had been asked to provide a film different in subject from the others. "Queniin Durward" is full of and lofty sentiments—as befits a swashbuckler. It also has that box office attraction, Robert Taylor, and a goodly assortment of character actors among whom Robert Morley is not ashamed to be derringado, stern countenarces

As for "Helen of Troy"—this could have been billed as "based on Homer's best seller 'The Illiad' ". History, legend, spectacle and pretly people are tossed into the pot this time and the concoction that emerges is colourful entertalnment that places no strain on the mental processes. The picture that falled to hold out over a second week-end was "The Kentuckian"

It has been replaced "Descrt Sands" and the newly resurrected ing for the Foreign Legion that seems to be inspiring film companies recently, it would be as well to go along and get yourself orientated.

The Ingredients

It's the kind of tale that has its adherents since the birth of the film industry, the main bones being easily recognisable. Take a lonely desert outpost, a bunch of "characters" looking forward to the arrival of the relief column (overdue, for dramatic effect) a martinet (albeit hearts of the feminine section of the audience) in command and mind of one of the desert tribes, more? and there is the plot.

In the old days, however, they were content to show the marauding Arabs as a bunch of grubby savages photographed en masse with orders given by some anonymous leader who was never accorded the dis-tinction of being picked out by the camera.

flying through the air, it fashlonable to segregate the leader of the tribe, give him a dictator complex, a set warped ideals, and while dressing him up like a musical has been given an expensive education at one of the best schools. His part in the picture is not limited to leading the charge against a small knot of wisecracking heroes either. There's much more to playing a tribal chief these days, In 'Desert Sands" it includes (besides the aforementioned sartorial elegance) striding about, letting off speeches explaining his reasons for hating the loathsome foreigner, taking his scantily clad sister on raids with him and generally making a successful effort to steal the show from the real star-the commander of the fort.

American English

The accents in this picture are, as befits something dealing with the Foreign Legion, polygiot. English people will bavo as hilarious a time listening to an American actor what he imagines is an English

This kind of thing is a welcome change from westerns and the action is every bit as good as the best of them. There's more than a hint of savagery to please the bloodthirsty, there's suspense while we wait to see what has become of the missing column and there's John Carradine as the villain of the piece, as well good looking to flutter the as the two lovelies who quite obviously wouldn't be seen dead in the desert without their several references to the un-cosmetic boxes or their seven trigger-happy state of veils. A Week Of ANIMAL ODDITIES

London. Something has happened in the animal world. Woodpeckers are chewing down a church steeple in southern England. A singer woold a lion in Italy and theatrical cats posed for opera judges in London. Even camels and elephants are acting up.

Nobody knew whether it was the after-effect of Europe's cold wave or an outbreak of premature spring fever-but it was a topsy-turvy day for animal news last week.

The Fons were enchanted,

They purred and rolled over on · their backs, and Evangelisti emerged triumphant.

Dignified Cat Wanted

In London, 23 assorted cats poxed for 20 pivearious seconds on a 10-feot wall on the stage of the Sadlers Wells Theatre.

All had come in answer to an advertisement calling for a catto play a role in Il Ferrari's maggots and the woodpeckers opera, "School for Fathers."

The part requires a cat to "maintain dignity on top of a 10-foot wall despite the distraction of a full-scale orchestra and the laughter and applause of an audlence."

The winning cat gets two complimentary sardines. Its owner gets two free tickets for each performance.

Five judges sat in a darkened auditorium to watch the audition. One was David Ward, Sadlers Wells' principal singer, who will act with the cat.

The eats, with much off-stage prompting, went through their paves. Then the judges chose the winner "Keatr." owned by Mrs John Donne, a Canadian now living in London.

He Fed The Lion (With His Finger)

Melbourne, Mr Max Neudorfer, a 26wear-old labourer, lost the third finger of his left hand when he tried to stroke a lioness in a circus eage at Traralgon, about 100 miles east of Melbourne.

Mr Neudorfer, an Austrian immigrant, told the police: poked my hand between the bars of the cage to stroke the lioness. She snarled and caught my finger in her teeth. I hit her on the snout with my free hand, but the lip of my finger was gone," rlace. Today there comes another book, perhaps most Press, sensational of all. It is "The Haunting of Borley Rectory" by three distinguished members of the world famous Society of Psychical Research.

Doctors later ampulated the finger to the next joint,-China Mail Special.

After a long and exhaustive investigation of all the evidence they have "with regret" reached the conclusion that most of the legend of Borley Rectory was faked by the late Harry Price whose books on the hauntings corned him fame and considerable fortune.

Deliberately Distorted

The three researchers, among the most experienced in the field, are Kathleen Goldney, Trevor Hall and Dr E. J. Dingwall,

They said they had drafted their report "with reluctance" because of the inability of Price to defend himself. But they added that the close study of Price's files on which part of the report is based would not have been possible during his lifetime.

They said there was no doubt that in his books, "The Most Haunted House in England" and "The End of Borley Rectory" Price "presented a deliberately distorted' account" of the material in his possession.

They added: "most suspicious of all perhaps, is the coincidence of the first outbreak of violent objective manifestations at the rectory with the first visit by allowed out on his own" any-Price to Borley in 1929. way. Extraordinary coincidences do occur, of course, but if this explanation is not accepted the circumstances point somewhat directly to Price himself being responsible for the throwing of stones, keys and medals (of which Price was a collector) for the transformation of liquids into ink...."

There were reports of the short of a nun at Borley as far back as 1900 but the authors of the new book believe these were coloured by the epiritualis-tic beliefs of the family then living there, In 1928 a new family moved in and, disturbed by rumours of hountings, asked a London newspaper how to contact a psychical society.

The editor sent down a rereported that their insects have the executive board of W.H.O., This was in June 1929 and im-developed resistance to D.D.T. Montreal TIMOUSANDS of Canadians - and the houses they live in-are now being moved to make way for the St Lawrence Seaway, biggest peacetime international project in history.

The towns that are being moved are just west of Montreal, at the lower end of the 1,200mile long water deepening scheme.

Townspeople from Morrisburg and Iroquols are leaving the streets they have lived in all their lives-streets that, with the construction of new dams, will soon be under water... Wooden houses which can be lifted on to carrying frames are being transported to two new sites. Those which can't are left, and the town cemeteries will soon be watery graveyards. In North American booster style, signs are blossoming the highways reading:

COMPLETION DATE

When all the dams, canals, hydro-power plants and other works have been completed, the scheme will have cost £400,000,000-money being put up by both Canada and the United States, although Canada is bearing the major share.

After the completion date in 1959, ocean-going ships will be able to travel to the heart of North America by way of 1,000 miles of the St Lawrence River from the Atlantic to Montreal, and then 1,200 miles through lake and river by means of the seaway.

To Britain, this will mean that deep sea craft will be able to leave Liverpool and travel all the way to Chicago or Port drop their eargoes, reload and travel all the way back home. No reshipments will be necessary.

significant. The real essence of this project, however, is not that deep draft ocean vessels can go into the Great Lakes, as important as this is.

The real importance Canada's national economy is that a clear channel is provided for upper-lake vessels, not necessarily ocean-going, carry grain to tidewater without recourse to reshipment. REAL IMPORTANCE

Canada is now earrying on a darling experiment. With a thin though growing population, it is trying to build up a highlyindustrialised civilisation 1,500 miles from the sea.

Until now, railways have handled the majority of goods. Now the new scaway will come into its own..

But cheaper transport is Canada's natural products and obtain the benefits of mass production. Both land and water transportation is necessary. That is why the senway construction comes at a most opportune time in Canada's history.

Many of this season's swim-suits are made in three different lengths to each size. They are the answer to the grumbles of the short girl whose swimsult is too long and wrinkle round the waist, and of the tall girl whose suit is too short. Some of the swimsuits are cold as part of an outilt.

Outstanding was terylene.
This was used for white—yes, white—tailored suits. For, with the coming of terylene and its non-shrink washability, designers consider a white suit is practical for town wear. Several showed plain tailored suits; and one, a shirt-walster.
Some of the new materials were mixtures which combine the best of two or more fabrics. One was shown in Dublin. A linen and rayon mixture, it had a long-haired surface, resembling a wool.

Nylon appeared in several new guises, particularly for afternoon wear; among them were paisley printed nylon and printed nylon voile.

WINDOW SILL CARE

Glass containers which hold plants, growing in water must be kept clear and sparkling at all times. Scrub them often with hot suds and ripses, both inside and out. A lump of charcoal in the water will help to keep it sweet.

Even though flower pots have drip containers or inside drainago arrangements, dampness can come through and blister the paint of the window sill on which they are placed. Change the position of the pots frequently and wipe up any spilled water immediately. For extra protection, wash the sill. Dry thoroughly and apply several coats of wax to keep any moisture from penetrating to the paint.

A DOCTOR'S DAY

Superstitious? Well, Well, Forget It! CEDRIC CARNE

66 T ABBERWOCKY" young Johnny Wood's favouries expression. If I told him that some people believe that styes in the eye can be cured by rubbing them with gold wedding rings or that warts caused drinking water in which eggs have been previously boiled, he would stare at me with his 16-year-old eyes "Jabberwocky." and say Quite rightly.

Yet the world is full of medical superstitions, and when he received a small cut on that fold of skin between the index finger and the thumb, he rushed into my surgery white as a sail.

"Can I get lockjaw from a thing like that?" he asked anxiously.

"Lockjaw can be caused by wound injections anywhere on the body should those wounds be concuminated by the teamus germs," I replied.

Some of the colour returned to Johnny's cheeks as I explained more about tetanus.

"Where do these tetanus germs come from then?"

The tetanus bacillus is a normal inhabitant of ground used by horses, cows, and other animals, and I began to tell him, therefore, why gardeners, farmers and boys playing football should be particularly careful when they receive even supernetal abrasions.

"Have you ever seen these tetanus germs?"

"Yes, Johnny, I've seen them under a microscope. They look like minute drumsticks... Anyway, I was saying how contaminated with garden soil, with the dirt streets and so forth are liable to infection by temnus. bacilli remain in the wounds and produce a toxin which acts on the nervous system. It is one of the most powerful toxing known."

watertight and elegant too...!

No sportsman, and no one whose job or leisure activity brings them into contact with water or steam, should be without a watertight watch. Hitherto, watertightness has been achieved at the expense of elegance, for cases had to be thick and heavy to accomodate the scaling. The case of the new, ultra-thin Cyma-Navystar is made of special quality steel, and is so designed that slimness is combined with faultless scaling and outstanding strength and precision.

A unique scattle of the Cytta-Navystar is the scaling of its winder, one of the most fragile parts. Embodied in the winder is a minute device incorporating a spring system which counteracts wear, thus enstiting pirmanent watertightness. All Cyma-Navystar scaling is made of a new Makesteen metal which retains its classicity and neither crushes nor wears. The main scaling is situated where it examor be damaged from the outside.

FRHEN there is a brilliant and most moving short novel by Fitzgerald O'Connor called STORM (Collins, 8s. 6d.).

It tells how four men go fishing in a boat. Poor Jim, the weakling of the party, has been in prison, thinks no one loves him, is accident-prone.

He falls overboard, taking with him a piece of rope and tackle. So they save him, But the tackle gets scarled up in the propeller shaft and wrecks And there is a storm coming up.

"Where is our sail?" says the Captain. But Jim (poor Jim) has left the sail ashore.

So without sail, without engine, the little fishing boat rides out the storm. And when she smashes herself to pieces on the recis it is only poor Jim who goes under. "Music Magazine"

When Benjamin Britten and Peter Pears were in the Colony, they visited the studios of Radio Hongkong to record an interview with Peter Sharp, the producer of "Music Magazine".

Benjamin composer Britten spoke about his methods of composition, and his plans for future works which include a full length "classical" ballet; Peter Pears commented on the juxtaposition of words and music; and Benjamin Britten made some comments which are likely to sound revolutionary to some listeners.

This interview can be heard in "Music Magazine" tomorrow morning at half past twelve. For me and my gal; The Boy next Also in the programme is a talk door: The Trolley Song; Judy, at the by Audrey Mendes on Richard Some of these days; My man: I don't care; Carolina in the Morning: Elgar's Cello Concerto -- Danny Boy; After you've gone; Over which will be played in tomorrow's Sunday Concert-by Donald Gould. The programme is compiled and introduced by Peter Sharp,

INTERNATIONAL APPEARS TO KNOW BOUNDS TODAY

Says I. M. MacTAVISH

Football is fast becoming one of the great binding factors in a world that needs as many ties as it can get. The potentiality of the game as a bond between countries and nations is an important one and there is not the slightest doubt that the people of many lands are eager to see the footballers of other countries in action in their midst.

A famous English International of a few years ago wrote a most interesting book in which he referred to himself as a 'Football Ambassador'. When the book appeared on the news stands the attractive title - apart altogether from the fame of its writer—quickly caught the eye, but now, looking at the matter in retrospect, one cannot but wonder if the writer really foresaw just how much of an ambassador his successors in the football limelight were going to be.

SOFTBALL WEEK-END

Taiwan Girls' Softball Team Play Their Match Tomorrow

By "TIME OUT"

Heading the seven-game softball card at King's Park this week is the visiting Ching Hsui Girls softball team who are arriving this afternoon by the sa Szechuen for a series of exhibition games with our local belles. These young visitors are expected to stay for two weeks and the Hongkong Softball Association has arranged a series of exhibition games between local talent and the visitors.

They have even gone far enough to arrange another 'Old Crocks' squad, comprised mainly of softball officials and the team managers who are too 'old' to take an active part in the game, to match wits with the Ching Hsui girls as was done when

ARMY NORTH v. ARMY SOUTH WILL BE THE MATCH OF THE AFTERNOON

Says "PAK LO"

The match of the afternoon this week, without doubt, will be the Army North-Army South clash on the Army ground in Boundary Street at 4.00 p.m. These two teams have not as yet met for their previously postponed match, which was scheduled to have been played off on Wednesday, was again postponed due to a shortage of players.

Last week, with the Army South getting the lesser share of the bull from the scrums against the Airmen, they looked weak, and it was only when the ball

Army North, not being depleted in the threes as is the South side by the majority of their players going down to Singapore, has by far the stronger set of backs, though their halves are not in the same class as Glen and Jackman.

The Army North forwards did not shine much last week either, and in the loose were slow to get to the ball.

In the set scrums the Army South hooker, Barker, should be able to send the ball back to Glen with a steady regularity,

DON, REVIE

YOUR BURTHUDAY ... By STELLA

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 18

PORN today, you are frank, outspoken and, at times, even a Ilttle too blunt. You know what you want and go after it without wasting too much time. You may be slower than some, but you always arrive where you want to be, eventually!

One side of your nature is careful in money matters and you probably will be a rather saving soul. You always will be the one in the family to have that reserve fund put away for an emergency. Yet, you never seem to be pinching pounles. You are just a good manager and know how to get full value for the money you spend, so that what you have goes all the way around with some to spend. with some to spare.

There is another side of your nature. You are affectionate; fun-loving and wonderfully good company when among those you love. Here you are swayed by your emotions and your impulses. You have a sense for the dramatic and you might, if so trained in youth, want to have a try at a stage career. You have facility with the spoken word and do not know the meaning of singe fright. You have a keen sense of humour and can be the life of any party.

Among these born on this date are: Mary, Queen of Scots; Charles M. Schwab, steel ploncer; August' Belmont, banker; Jefferson Davis, statesman; Wayne King, orchestra conductor; Adolph Menjou, actor; Ernest Mach, psychologist.

SHAKEUP IN FALANGE EXPECTED

Reliable sources said today the appointment of Arrese secretary-general of Falange, Spain's only legal political party, probably will be the signal for a thorough reshuffle of the party organisation and perhaps the government.

Two Falangist officials who will probably be replaced are deputy secretary Tomas Remojaro and divisional deputy secretary Juan J. Pradera.

Governor Diego Salas Pombo of Valencia is considered a HONGKONG & SHANGHAL likely replacement for Remoand Pradera's successor probably will be Jose A. Elola who headed the Falange youth organisation for 14 years.

Arrese was appointed to the ing from last week's student rioting here.

"That the authorised Capital of the Company be increased from its present Capital of $50,000,000 divided into 5,000,000 shares of $10 each to $100,000,000 by the creation of 5,000,000 additional shares of $10 each."

AND NOTICE IS ALSO GIVEN for the purpose of considering and, if thought fit, passing the following Resolutions as Ordinary Resolutions:-

1. "That it is desirable to capitalise a sum of $5,000,000 being part of the General Reserve Account and that accordingly a special capital bonus of $5,000,000 free of income tax be declared and that such bonus be applied on behalf of the persons who on the 15th day of March 1956 are holders of the 8,500,000 fully paid-up issued shares of the Company in payment in full for 500,000 new shares of the Company of $10 each, and that such 500,000 new shares credited as fully paid be accordingly allotted to such persons respectively in the proportion of one such new share for every complete seven of the said issued shares then held by such persons respectively, and that the shares so allotted shall be treated for all purposes as an increase of the nominal amount of the capital of the Company held by each shareholder and not as income, and further that such new shares shall as from the 1st day of July 1956 rank for dividend and in all other respects PARI PASSU with the already issued shares.

"If any member would be entitled to a fractional share the Directors in lieu of issuing fractional share certificates will cause the whole share to be issued to a person or persons to be named by the Directors and such share shall at such time as the Directors think fit be sold and the proceeds distributed among the persons entitled to the fractions making up such share."

2. "That in accordance with Article 11 of the Articles of Association of the Company there shall be offered to members who on the 15th day of March 1956 are the registered holders of the 8,500,000 fully paid-up issued shares of the Company 1,000,000 shares of the Company of the nominal value of $10 each at par (such nominal value being payable in full upon application on or before the 1st day of July 1956) so that each member of the Company or his approved nominee shall be entitled to apply for and take up two new shares for every complete issued seven shares then held by such member. The shares so offered shall rank for dividend as from the 1st day of July 1956 and in all other respects PARI PASSU with the already issued shares."

"If under the terms of the offer any member would be entitled to a fractional share, the Directors, in lieu of issuing fractional certificates, will cause the whole share to be issued to a person or persons to be named by the Directors and such share shall at such time as the Directors think fit be sold and the nett proceeds distributed among the persons entitled to the fractions making up such share."

"The Directors will dispose of any shares offered to members in the event of non-payment therefor by members or their approved nominees on or before the 1st day of July 1956 at such time or times in such manner and upon such terms and conditions as they may decide." It is most important that any persons who have purchased shares in the Company but are not on the Register in respect thereof should, if they wish to take advantage of the offer, present their transfers for registration accompanied by the requisite share certificates on or before the 1st day of March 1956. Death Penalty tagonists for abolition in England of the death penalty have finally got their way, but the result of the non-party vote in the House of Commons most inevitably raise misglvings in the minds of many people. It can be expected these misgivings will be pin-pointed in the "considered statement on the consequences which will flow from the vote," which the government has promised to make at an early date.

It is noteworthy, however, that although the free vote board. went against the government, the Premier readily minded.

HOW THE BIG RACE SWEEPS ARE RUN AND DRAWN

By George Liu

Most of us splurge occasionally on one of the few forms of legalised gambling in Hongkong the $2 cash sweep ticket.

But how many know precisely what happens behind the scenes from the time a ticket is brought to that exciting moment when someone realises that the piece of paper in his wallet has won him a fortune?

Twelve "intelligent and well-informed" sources gave me varying answers which were so weird and wonderful that I finally decided to seek out the facts for myself.

It's almost the mixture as efore, this week-end, with most of the Chinese New Year attractions still in full swing. They're a varied ot, and if one didn't know that it's what goes into the cash box that is the main interest of all theatre managers (making it impractical to run a comedy if the house across the road is showing a better one) it might be imagined that a thoughtful entertainment committee had ensured that each of the first run cinemas had been asked to provide a film different in subject from the others. "Quen'in Durward" is full of derring-do, stern counteracces. and lotty sentiments—as belts a swashbuckler.

It also has that box office attraction, Robert Taylor, and a goodly as ortment of character actors among whom Robert Morley is not ashamed to be

As for "Helen of Troy" -- th could have been billed as "base t on Homer's best seller The Illind' ". History, legend, speciacle and pret'y people are torced into the pot this time and the congoction that emerges is colourful entertainment that places no strain on the mental processes.

The picture that failed to hole out over a re and week-end was "The Kerluckian" It has been replaced by

"Descri Sunds" and with the newly resurrected feeling for the Foreign Legion that seems to be inspiring film compante, recently, it would be as self orientated.

The Ingredients

It's the kind of tale that has is adherents since the birth of the film industry, the main bones being easily recognisable. Take a lonely desert outpost, a bunch of "characters" looking forward to the arrival of the relief column (overdue, for dramatie effect) a martiner (albeit the villain of the piece, as well good looking to futter the as the two lovelies who quite hearts of the feminine section of obviously wouldn't be seen the audience) in command and dead in the desert without their several references to the un- councile boxes or their seven easy, trigger-happy state of vells. Who could ask for mind of one of the desert tribes, more? and there is the plot.

In the old days, however, kaye At Court they were content to show the marauding Arabs as a bunch of grubby savages photographed en masse with orders given by some anonymous leader who was never accorded the distinction of being picked out by the camera.

Now, with all the "isms" flying through the air, it is I'm atraid that I must diffifushionable to regregate the deatly line myself up with the leader of the tribe, give him a small section of cinemagoers dictator complex, a set of who do not find Danny Kaye warped ideals, and while dress funny. Fred MacMurray's lustre hasn't become tarnished with his advancing years and Richard Burton, although we haven't seen a great deal of him, has managed to get himself sufficiently talked about to rank equally with the other two. Add to these Michael Rennie, and only a slight alteration of the title of a novel that most people have read and you have something that you fear you will go to with hope and emerge from with distilusion. Unless you are particularly difficult to please, this is not the case with "The Rains of Ranchipur". It would not be fair to call it a great film, but it has the power of holding one's attention the whole way through, in spite of tedious disscriptions from all the main characters on their reasons for being what they are,

Deliberately Distorted

The three researchers, among the most experienced in the n id, are Kathleen Goldney, Trevor Hall and Dr E. J. Dingwall, their report "with reluctance" because of the inability of Price to go on practising to defend himself. But they for some years yet. added that the close study of Price's files on which part of the report is based would not have been possible during his lifetime.

They said there was no doubt that in his books, "The Most Haunted House in England" and "The End of Borley." Rectory" Price "presented a deliberately distorted account" of the material in his possession.

They added: "most suspicious of all perhaps, is the coincidence of the first outbreak of violent objective manifestations at the rectory with the first visit by Price to Borley in 1929. Extraordinary coincidences, do occur, of course, but if this explanation is not accepted the circumstances point somewhat directly to Price himself being responsible for the throwing of stones, keys and medals (of which Price was a collector) for the transformation of liquids into ink..."

There were reports of the ghost of a nun at Borley as far back as 1900 but the authors of the new book believe these were coloured by the spiritualistic beliefs of the family then living there. In 1928 a new family moved in and, disturbed by rumours of hauritings, asked a London newspaper how to contact a psychical society.

The editor sent down a reporter who contacted Price. This was in June 1929 and immediately, says the report, "objective phenomena of a new kind appear—the throwing of stones and other objects, spirit by the available insecticides is messages tapped out on u no longer possible, disastrous mirror, the appearance of apports (apports are objects alleged by psychies to appear spontaneously)."

n while holding the plant on its side in the sink. Not only dust and dirt, but some of the most common insect pests as plant Scale insects can be rubbed off gently with a soapy sponge. enough, wiping with a soapy sponge can do the trick.

THE SECRET

No matter what plant food is The cleanliness plus the plant containers once a week in hot suds. This will keep them free

> After the plant bath, always go over the pot with a welllathered cloth or sponge to remove smudges from dirt and water spilling over the edges.

> An ordinary clay pot is a perfeetly good container, but it doesn't do much to complement a plant's appearance. Instead, slip the pots inside pretty planters made by converting old tins, of varying sizes, with adhesivebacked plastic in a pretty pattern.

> Wash the tins in hot suds first to remove dirt, wax or grease. Dry them well and then just smooth on the plastic covering, which is completely washable.

WINDOW SILL CARE

Glass containers which hold plants growing in water must be kept clear and sparkling at all times. Scrub them often with hot sudy and rinses, both inside and out. A lump of charcoal in the water will help to keep it sweet.

Even though flower pots have drip containers or inside drainago arrangements, dampness can come through and blister the paint of the window sill on which they are placed. Change the position of the pots frequently and wipe up any spilled water immediately. For extraprotection, wash the sill. Dry thoroughly and apply several coats of wax to keep any moisture from penetrating to the paint.

A Balance

IT is hard for any nation to keep a balance between material and the spiritual. It is hard for the artist and the dreamer to make their voices heard above the clang and clamour of industrial development. It is hard for the expressionist to convince the realist that living is more important than existing.

Yet in every nation's life there are recurring moments when a pedlar of dreams emerges and invokes his will upon the realists and the materialists. Which brings me to young Mr Tom Ontario, Canada.

Some four or five years ago he turned up in London and came to my house. He had dreamed a dream and he unfolded it to me as we sat in my garden in St John's watertight and elegant too...!

No sporisman, and no one whose job or leisure activity brings them into contact with water or steam, should be without a watertight watch. Hitherto, watertightness has been achieved at the expense of elegance, for cases had to be thick and heavy to accommodate the scaling. The case of the new, ultra-thin Cyma-Navystar is made of special quality steel, and is so designed that slimness is combined with faultless scaling and outstanding strength and precision.

A unique seawe of the Cyma-Navystat is the scaling of its winder, one of the most fragile parts. Embodied in the winder is a minute device incorporating a spring system which counteracts wear, thus ensuring permanent watertightness.

All Cyma-Navystar scaling is made of a new metal which retains its clasticity and neither crushes nor wests. The main scaling is situated where it cannot be damaged from the outside.

This is the watertight watch! ... wonderfully thin, elegant, permanently watertight, and made by CYMA-world-famous for their leadership in high-precision watch manufacture.

FIGHEN there is a brilliant and most moving short novel by Fitzgerald O'Connor called STORM (Collins, 8s. 6d.).

It tells how four men go fishing in a boat. Poor Jim, the weakling of the party, has been in prison, thinks no one loves.

He falls overboard, taking with him a piece of rope and tackle. So they save him. But the tackle gets snarled up in the propeller shaft and wrecks it. And there is a storm coming up. "Where is our sail?" says the Captain. But Jim (poor Jim) has left the sail ashore.

So without sail, without the little fishing boat rides out the storm. And when she smashes herself to pieces on the reefs it is only poor Jim who goes under. The others save themselves by various frenks of skill, luck, and fulth. The book reminds me of Hemingway's "The Old Man and the Sea." Man battling with the elements. SATURDAY SOCCER SPOT

OF INTERNATIONAL SOCCER APPEARS TO KNOW

Says I. M. MacTAVISH

Football is fast becoming one of the great binding factors in a world that needs as many ties as it can get. The potentiality of the game as a bond between countries and nations is an important one and there is not the slightest doubt that the people of many lands are eager to see the footballers of other countries in action in their midst.

A famous English International of a few years ago wrote a most interesting book in which he referred to himself as a 'Football Ambassador'. When the book appeared on the news stands the attractive title - apart altogether from the fame of its writer—quickly caught the eye, but now, looking at the matter in retrospect, one cannot but wonder if the writer really foresaw just how much of an ambassador his successors in the football limelight were going to be.

For this reason it becomes increasingly necessary for even the most narrow minded of individuals, and the most conservative of communities, take notice of what is happening in other parts of the world and to benefit necordingly.

SOCCER REPUTATION

No longer can any country putation oremain aloof or adopt an isolationist attitude. FIFA has gone from strength to strength and there is surely no doubting that the general widening of attitude, and the improved facilities for the exchange of ideas on an international basis, are changing the whole concept of the game.

Rough Play Can Only Harm British Soccer

Says DON REVIE

I earn my living by playing football. Thousands of other chaps do the same. That's why I think every professional footballer - and the amateurs too for that matter - should refute recent accusations of "savagery and ruthlessness on the football field."

I don't think for one moment that soccer is rougher than it was in years gone by. Nevertheless I think every player before he goes out on the field should ask himself these questions: Am-I playing the game in the best spirit of sportsmanship? DORN today, you are frank, out-poken and, at times, even a D little too blunt. You know what you want and go after it without wasting too much time. You may be slower than some, but you always arrive where you want to be, eventually!

One side of your nature is careful in money matters and you probably will be a rather saving soul. You always will be the one in the family to have that reserve fund put away for an emergency. Yet, you never seem to be plaching penales. You are just a good manager and know how to get full value for the money you spend, so that what you have goes all the way around with some to spare,

There is another side of your nature. You are affectionate, fun-loving and wonderfully good company when among those you love. Here you are awayed by your emotions and your impulses. You have a sense for the dramatic and you might, if so trained in youth, want to have a try at a stage career. You have facility with the spoken word and do not know the meaning of stage fright. You have a keen sense of humour and can be the life of any party.

French Assembly Postpones Debates On Issues

Paris, Feb. 17.

The French National Assembly today decided by a majority of nine votes to postpone debates on two key controversial issues—the Algerian situation and the question of public financial aid to private religious schools.

In a calm atmosphere contrasting strongly with the angry sessions earlier in the week, the Assembly adopted by 288 votes to 279 the programme for the next fortnight's sessions recommended by the "conference of presidents."

Important Metals Sent Bloc Red

Washington, Feb. 17. A leading government metals expert told the Senate Permanent Investigations Sub-committee today that Western countries were not permitted to supply the Soviet Union with the means of producing rare alloys used for the skins of guided missilos.

Washington, Feb. 17. Israeli Embassy sources today denied reports that press Israel had decided to postpone for several weeks the resumption of work on its project to divert the water of the Jordan

These sources said that Israell authorities had merely indicated that they were ready to postpone the project should Mr Eric Johnston, President Elsenhower's personal envoy to the Middle East, return to the region.

Mr Johnston would be expected to try again to effect an on-the-spot settlement on the division of the Jordan's waters between Israel, Jordan, Syria and Lebanon.

Diplomatic Channels

Several Arab nations have let It be understood that the resumption of work on the Israeli water diversion project could to hostilities against Certain coservers felt that the United States might seek to settle the matter by ordinary diplomatic channels and that Mr Johnston's personal services would only be needed if these efforts failed .- France-Presse , Madrid, Feb. 17. Reliable sources said today the appointment of Arrese secretary-general of the Falange, Spain's only legal political party, probably will be the signal for a thorough reshuffle of the party organisation and perhaps the government.

Two Falangist officials who will probably be replaced are deputy secretary Tomas Remojaro and divisional deputy secretary Juan J. Pradera.

Governor Diego Salas Pombo of Valencia is considered a HONGKONG & SHANGHAI likely replacement for Remojaro, and Pradern's successor probably will be Jose A. Elola, who headed the Falange youth organisation for 14 years.
